Torrington Parks and Recreation Department would like to invite the public to the first session of the Garden Lecture Series by Still River Gardens at Coe Memorial Park on October 1, 2014 beginning at 6:30 PM.

This presentation followed by a practical demonstration will cover:

- Fall planting of ornamental plants including plant combination ideas.
- Fall planting of bulbs to provide a beautiful spring display.
- Fall chores to put your garden to bed for winter.
- Winter pruning tips for your ornamental trees and shrubs.
- Q&A to get answers to your gardening questions by Still River Gardens Horticultural staff; Jeremy Stickney-Licensed Arborist, Lori Stickney- Certified Horticulturist and Garden Designer, and David Nevin Professional Landscaper with over 25 years experience.

Please come dressed for the elements as we will be doing outdoor demonstrations. Still River Gardens will also be presenting a spring demonstration that will cover the basics of using perennials, annuals and shrubs to provide a colorful garden display all summer long. Guests attending the lecture will receive a complimentary coupon from Brierwood Nurseries for 10% off their entire purchase at the Nursery.
